A talented individual who has gained knowledge of the video game industry through personal development, attention to detail and creative skills. On a personal level a good listener, someone who is generally introverted but will be open to discuss ideas and work together with other people. My goal is to get an environment artist role within the video games market which would form a platform into other artistic roles within the industry.

ACTIVITIES

Hobbies- Enjoy playing a variety of video games across a plethora of genres and learning about the evolving industry. Additional interest in a film and television, which includes animated and live action shows. Stories and gameplay are what excites me.

I also have experience creating my own community group and helping other community groups in which I had made and joined events through the app 'Meetup' and attempt to form a strong social community to interact with, as well as other social platforms such as WhatsApp and Instagram.

Outside of media interest, I exercise regularly at the gym and eat healthy food to improve mental health, which is important in any high-pressure career. I also enjoy networking and contact with other game artists, as well as industry professionals, a few game companies, and recruiters.
