PERSONAL SUMMARY

With a strong foundation in animation, digital design, and client communication, I bring a blend of creativity, organisation, and commercial awareness to every project I support. I thrive in fast-paced, collaborative environments and naturally take a proactive, “get-things-sorted” approach, whether coordinating tasks, managing details, or helping teams deliver work to a high standard. My experience creating branded content, supporting multi-channel campaigns, and adapting quickly to shifting priorities has strengthened my ability to balance creative ambition with practical delivery.

I’m driven by great ideas and love understanding how audiences think, how brands position themselves, and how strong creative work can genuinely make a difference. Curious by nature, I’m always looking to learn, whether deepening my understanding of the production process, strengthening relationships, or sharpening my creative judgement.
